Two Syracuseans Found Asphyxiated in Their Bed.

SUICIDAL OR ACCIDENTAL

Peculiar Mystery Surrounding the Passing Off of an Unknown Man and Woman in New York.

New York, Oct. 15.—Late Wednesday evening a man and a woman, respectively dressed, and about 30 years old, went to the Hotel Colombo, at No. 135 Bleecker street. The man wanted two rooms for himself and companion, who, he said, was his married sister. The proprietor said that he had only one room vacant in which there were two beds. The couple refused to accept the room. Some time after they returned and decided to take it. They registered as "A. Valentine" and "L. Valentine." They paid the bill and nothing was heard from them until Friday morning, when the servant went to arrange the room. Mrs. Lamson said she would do the work herself.

Nothing further was known of the couple until this afternoon when a servant becoming alarmed at a smell of gas issuing from the room occupied by the Syracuse visitors, called a policeman and had the door burst open. The man and woman were found dead in the same bed. The gas was turned on but it is generally believed that it was due to accident. On the person of the man was found $20 also a gold pen. The woman had a silver watch and two excursion tickets between New York and Syracuse. On an envelope was the address, "Louis Valentine, 1000 Broadway, New York." A brass check was also found in the room on which was inscribed, "The Old Baggage Process company, 1670 Syracuse."

The bodies are yet at the hotel waiting to be carried for relatives or to be sent to the morgue.

Last Tuesday he quit work, and accompanied by Mrs. Lamson, the dead woman, went to New York to witness the Columbian celebration. He was single and 27 years of age. The dead woman was 25 years of age. The bodies are yet at the hotel waiting to be carried for relatives or to be sent to the morgue.

Jury Finds a Verdict Against Toledo's Boodle Alderman in Ten Minutes.

Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 15.—John Daly, "king" of the councilman bootleggers, was found guilty this morning. The charge of the jury occupied but about ten minutes, and the case was given to the jury at 9:30. Everybody anticipated a long session and possibly a hung jury.

Daly went down to get shaved, but had scarcely got into the barber's chair when the officers were after him, the jury having announced that they had agreed. When Daly was brought into the court the foreman of the jury announced that they had found the defendant guilty. They had heard out but ten minutes. The punishment for a public official soliciting bribes is a fine of $500 and from one to five years in the penitentiary.

Counsel for the defense went on Monday night to make a statement. Mr. Tanager, who was one of the six indicted with Daly, this afternoon asked for a strick jury. Tanager's trial will begin on Tuesday morning.

The New York Boodle Alderman Released From Sing Sing Yesterday.

SING SING, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Ex-Alderman Henry W. Jaehne was liberated from Sing Sing prison at 6:30 o'clock this morning. He had breakfast in his cell and was then taken to the state shop, where he was given a new suit of dark clothes, a pair of new shoes, a derby and a white shirt. After he was fitted out he went to his quarters, where his friends and family were waiting. He passed through the yard he shook hands with all the keepers, who wished him good luck. He was then taken to the clerk's office. The clerk gave him his discharge papers, $95 he brought here with him, the amount he earned while in prison, several articles, his personal property and a ticket to New York. He then bid the officials good-by and went from the prison to the Phoenix hotel. None of his friends was on hand to meet him. He took the 7:00 train for New York. Jaehne would not give any information about his future plans. About twenty reporters from New York papers came here to see Jaehne, but he left for New York before they arrived, having been arranged to get him off early so that he might give the reporters the slip.

A Barber Fires a Tenement for the Insurance Money.

New York, Oct. 15.—An attempt was made early this morning to burn the large tenement, No. 130 Anthony street, for the sake of insurance money, and the lives of a number of human beings were thereby jeopardized. The fire started in the barber shop of Abraham Katz, on the ground floor, but was extinguished before any serious loss had been done. The nineteen families that had apartments in the building had been aroused by the city of fire and fled into the street by means of the fire escapes and stairways. An investigation by the fire marshal revealed unmistakable evidence that the fire was incendiary. In some of the drawers of the barber shop was found a quantity of rags saturated with kerosene. The fire has not been arrested, but it is expected that he will be. He has already told a number of conflicting stories with regard to his whereabouts at the time of the fire. He generally slept in a small room in the rear of the barber shop but did not occupy it last night.

ENGINEERS GO OUT.

Rio Grande Drivers Want to Eat When and Where They Like.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 15.—The engineers on the second division of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, went out on a strike at 7 o'clock this morning and no trains are running from Salida to Grand Junction. The cause of the strike is the laying off of the engineer Billy Gordon some weeks ago. Superintendent Ridgeway posted an order at Minturn that no engineer of a freight train should be allowed to stop for meals between Minturn and Grand Junction. Engineer Gordon, who was the first man to travel over the road after the order was posted, refused to accept the order. He was laid off indefinitely and a strike of all the engineers of the Rio Grande was declared this morning until Gordon should be put back. About 200 men are out.

WORK OF A FIERO.

A Barber Fires a Tenement for the Insurance Money.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—In the dead calm preceding the meeting of parliament the attention of Great Britain has been directed to the perennial troubles between Turkey and Russia. M. Shishkin, the building chief of the foreign office in St. Petersburg since M. De Giers retired, is about to follow up his protest against the reception of Istanbul by the Sultan, by a protest against further fortifying of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles under the direction of the Belgian general, Brialmont.

The final report of Brialmont was laid before the sultan this week. He is understood to have pronounced the artillery of the present fortifications at the entrance to the Bosphorus to be sufficient. This artillery consists of heavy Krupp guns of recent pattern. The armor of the fortifications, however, is considered by Brialmont to be of the poorest. New gun carriages to facilitate the mobility of the guns are also necessary. These improvements will cost the sultan nearly a million pounds, which he can ill afford to spend in the present disordered condition of Turkish finances. Nevertheless, the sultan's recommendations will be approved by the sultan. Brialmont has put in a fever of apprehension by the high handed way in which Shishkin has been laying down demands and reproofs in Constantinople recently.

Turkey Will Be Ready.

General Brialmont will return to Belgium late this month to take his seat in the Belgian chamber. He will be in constant communication with the sultan's military advisors, however, and the work on the fortifications will be pressed forward with all haste, so that Turkey may be ready for the ultimatum from St. Petersburg. In the spring he will go to Constantinople to superintend personally the execution of the most important details of the work.

The Hearing of the Big Drum in Berlin.

The hearing of the big drum in Berlin, preparatory to the introduction of the military bill, was begun this week. when the recall of the German military attaché of legation at St. Petersburg and of the Russian military attaché of legation in Berlin was semi-officially announced. This exchange of discourtesies was made of course at Russia's suggestion. It is undoubtedly the consequence of Germany's refusal to consider the proposal of a Russian loan in Berlin, and the coldness of the German commissioners conferring with the czar's representatives as to closer commercial relations between the countries. Nevertheless Russia's action is represented as a warning of the growing hostility which is likely to end soon in war. Hence the hundred or more millions desired by the government for the army should be granted to the Reichstag, and nobody should grumble if the army be increased by 90,000 or 100,000 men. This is an old trick of Prince Bismarck, turned to account by Chancellor von Caprivi.

France Fears Dynamite.

All eyes in France are upon the Carmarthen strikers at present. The men have been out two months and are desperate, and the management, despite the popular outcry against it, refuse to yield. The strikers have all gone to the Tarn district to stir the men to violence, and there is little doubt that dynamite has been smuggled into the houses of the Carmarthen miners. Twenty detectives are on the ground to hunt down dynamite plots, but so far have had no success. Everybody fears that next week will see the beginning of a series of dynamite outrages such as kept all France in a tremble last April.

MANY LIVES LOST.

Terrible Storms Raging On the British Coast Drive Vessels Ashore.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Terrible storms have been raging throughout the United Kingdom during the last week. Many wrecks are reported on the coast entailing great loss of life. During the height of the gale the schooner Isabella, bound for Goole, stranded not far from Yarmouth. When she struck her mainmast went by the board close to the deck. The foremast stood and into the foretowing the crew climbed to escape being washed overboard by the tremendous seas that made a clear breach over the wreck. The coast guard rescued the crew.

Captain Metson and a seaman from the crew of the schooner Hamlet, which struck on the Hamro sand on Tuesday and foundered, have been landed at Yarmouth from the Wold lightship. They give a thrilling account of the wreck and their experience. When the Hamlet struck, her boat had already been smashed and the crew decided to try to swim to the Wold, eight miles distant. After Metson and his comrades had undergone a desperate struggle the crew of the lightship sighted them and came to the rescue. They were clinging to drifting wreckage and were almost dead, having endured seven hours' immersion in the raging sea. The Hamlet's mate, who was lashed to the rigging, was drowned when the schooner keeled over, while the remainder of the crew became exhausted and sank.

The fishing yawl James and Robert was captured yesterday in a heavy squall in the Firth of Forth, Scotland, into which she was putting for shelter. She had a crew of five men, and all of them were drowned. Another fishing boat that was also making for shelter under short canvas saw the yawl turn over when she was about a mile distant. One man was seen clinging to the bottom of the overturned boat, but it was impossible for the large craft to reach him in time to save him. An attempt was made to rescue him, but almost before the intending rescuer could hear away for him a heavy sea swept over the yawl and when it had passed the man had disappeared.

At Lough Lorne, Ards, a boat got out of its track and overflowed the adjacent country. In some places the rain was falling on the town and some were submerged to the depth of a foot. Houses in the lower portions of Lough and in Holbro and Hanalet are flooded. Several piers in the River Tyne were damaged by the storm. Many vessels continue to take shelter there. A terrific sea is running in the Irish channel. The mail boats plying between England and Ireland have been greatly delayed. Large tracts of land in the north of Wales have been flooded. The Deux Glamies, a French lugger, has been blown ashore on the island of Guernsey, where she broke up. All her crew were drowned.

Mr. Selce said that the Boston team was never in better condition, which fact was plainly made apparent in the today's games, and as reports indicate that recently the Cleveland's has fallen off in their batting, he expected to win the series easily.

He was watched and it was found that he still persisted in his brutal practice. Last night eighteen masked men surrounded his house, each armed with a whip. Palmer had all the doors and windows securely fastened, and, arming himself with an ax and a razor, fought hard.

At 3 o'clock this morning an entrance was effected by breaking through the roof. The mob had stripped him and tied him to a stake, each one giving him one good hard lash. The wife then threw herself between him and the crowd and begged for mercy, saying that she forgave him but would leave him. He was released.
